Adaptive Activities

Adaptive activities are recreational or competitive experiences modified for individuals with disabilities. These modifications—such as specialized equipment or rule changes—ensure meaningful participation and personal development. Columbus Parks and Recreation offers the following Adaptive Programming:

- Soccer Buddies (Sundays in September)
- Gym Buddies (Spring, Summer, Fall, Winter)
- Baseball Buddies (Sundays in January & February)
- Sensory Open Gym (Second Friday of each month).

- Basketball Buddies (Sundays in April & May)
- Sled Hockey (Call to Schedule)
- Swim Buddies (Tuesdays & Thursdays in June & July)

Inclusive Activities

Inclusive activities refer to activities designed to welcome participants of all abilities, including those with and without disabilities, in the same environment. The emphasis is on integration, equity, and shared participation, rather than separate or modified formats. While Columbus Parks and Recreation strives to make all programming accessible to all, there are specific programs tailored for inclusivity such as Recreation Day Camps (Summer) and Assisted Ice Programs (Call Hamilton Community Center & Ice Arena for more information).
